1. Non-Exempt Employees: These employees are expected to know and follow a master schedule. This master schedule can be found online (Shiftboard) and documents the employee's scheduled days and hours for each payroll period.
 - a. Hours / Overtime Rate: These employees work only those hours scheduled on the master schedule. Exceptions may be made individually in cases of emergency. Where overtime hours are authorized and approved ahead of time by the scheduling department, the rate of pay is time and one-half (1-1/2), based on a calendar week period of forty (40) hours. Only hours in excess of forty (40) are at the time and one-half (1-1/2) rate. A calendar week begins and ends at 12:00 midnight on Saturday.
 1. Exception: When an employee is working a twenty-four (24) hour shift or longer, the Asleep Night hours are exempt and are not taken into consideration as a part of the employee's forty (40) hour work week, unless the sleeping period is interrupted by a call to duty. The time awake will be considered part of the employee's forty (40) hour work week. If the sleeping period is interrupted so that the employee cannot get a minimum of five (5) hours of sleep, the entire period must be counted as part of the employee's forty (40) hour work week.
 2. Weighted Average Rate: When an employee is works more than forty (40) hours a week at multiple sites where different hourly rates apply, overtime is calculated at a weighted average rate, which takes all sites' wages into consideration, based on the percentage of hours worked at each site, and the overtime paid at that rate.
 - b. Time Schedules / Work Locations: Time schedules may vary from week to week. Work locations may also vary according to the needs of the organization as a whole. Schedules are coordinated between employees and scheduling department. From time to time, schedules or locations may be altered to meet the changing needs of the consumers served and the organization. Employees must be flexible in meeting any schedule changes.

1. Compensation for Travel Time: When an employee is assigned to work at two (2) or more sites in a day, the employee is reimbursed for the actual travel time in between the sites, when it is an hour or less between shifts.
 2. Employee Requested Change in Schedule: An employee may request a change in their permanent schedule or assigned work site. That request will be granted or denied by their supervisor. When a change is approved, the employee must continue in their current schedule or at their current site for two (2) weeks, unless the employee, with their supervisor's approval and at their discretion, can find a replacement. An employee's failure to meet this expectation will be considered an unauthorized absence and, therefore, a disciplinary matter.
- c. Holiday Schedules: These schedules are made by the scheduling department. If employees wish to change their schedule, they must submit a request via Shiftboard and obtain approval from the scheduling department.
2. Exempt Employees: These employees are expected to work the number of hours needed to successfully discharge their duties and responsibilities. They are expected to work those days and hours approximating a master schedule approved by their supervisor to meet organizational needs. Work locations may also vary according to the needs of the organization.
 - a. Minor Deviations: Minor deviations made in a master schedule to meet operational needs may be done by the employee. Minor is defined as any hours of a normal work day.
 1. Adjustment: In these cases, exempt employees may adjust their current schedule, if the workload permits, so that those additional hours average a normal master schedule during or within the next pay period.
 - b. Major Deviations: Major deviations made in a master schedule must be approved, giving a reasonable notice ahead of time, by the employee's supervisor.

3. Worksite: Meridian Services, Incorporated recognizes the importance of and values the presence of its employees in its office buildings. Therefore, it is Meridian Services, Incorporated's policy that employees perform their work from the office space provided by Meridian Services, Incorporated. This practice allows for junior employees to have immediate access to senior employees in order to provide them with modeling, mentorship and support. It also demonstrates an understanding of and solidarity with company colleagues who must work in the field in support of the people we serve. It is Meridian Services, Incorporated's policy, therefore, that all employees perform their duties at company buildings.

There are three limited exceptions to this policy which may only be granted by management.

- a. Formal Agreement: Specific, senior employees were previously granted a special arrangement by which they would work part of their time in one of the Metropolitan offices and part of their time at home each week due to the closing of the Saint Cloud office.
- b. Remote Hires: Meridian Services, Incorporated, in limited situations, hires employees to work in geographical regions that are beyond a reasonable commuting distance, as determined in management's sole discretion, to the company offices. These employees are hired with the understanding that they will work from their homes and will not be provided with office space in the company's office buildings. They will, however, be required to meet certain requirements as established by management and attend occasional meetings at the company offices.
- c. Supervisor Approved Partial Days: In the limited circumstances that an employee is scheduled to attend an early morning meeting that is closer to their home than to their office or if an employee is scheduled to attend a late afternoon meeting that is closer to their home than to their office, an employee may request supervisory approval to be allowed to work at home before the morning meeting or at home after the afternoon meeting. A request for supervisory approval must be made and granted for each such meeting.

Employees acknowledge that any and all worksite exceptions are specifically subject to permission, denial, modification and/or termination at any time and for any reason, with or without notice, and all decisions relating to worksite exceptions are solely within the discretion of management.

B. Work Attendance

1. Responsibility: Each employee is responsible for being in attendance every scheduled training and scheduled work day at the correct starting time through the end of their shift.
2. Authorized Absence for Non-Exempt Employees: An authorized absence occurs when an employee has requested time off, at least two weeks in advance or twenty- four (24) hours in advance for two (2) or fewer days and the time off has been approved by the employees supervisor. There may be exceptions to the time requirements including absences covered under the Family Medical Leave Act (FMLA), as the result of a Workers' Compensation incident, Funeral Leave or other extraordinary occasions authorized by the Program Administrator including but not limited to medical emergencies.
3. Unauthorized Absence / Use of an Occurrence for Non-Exempt Employees: If an employee is unable to attend a scheduled shift, for any reason, and it is not a supervisor, the employee must use one of their authorized occurrences. When an employee calls the attendance line due to illness or other unforeseen circumstances, the attendance line representative, or scheduler, will inform the employee that that they have used on their occurrences for the absence. All absences require notification of at least four (4) hours or more, prior to the start of the shift. Failure to fulfill this requirement will result in immediate disciplinary action, up to and including termination.

A Full-Time employee can use a maximum of four (4) Occurrences in a six (6) month rolling period of time. A Part-Time employee can use a maximum of three (3) occurrences in a six (6) month rolling period of time. An on-call employee can use a maximum of one (1) occurrence in a six (6) month rolling period of time. If an employee use more occurrences than what they are allowed within a six (6) month period, this will be considered an employee's voluntary resignation.

In the event that an employee is absent, has not communicated with the supervisor, and the supervisors are unable to contact the employee; the supervisor may engage a replacement employee. If the replacement employee has been engaged and is on the way to or in place at the program and the late employee arrives for work, the replacement staff person will be used and the employee arriving late will need to use an occurrence. If the employee who is arriving late would like to work the remainder of the shift, they will still need to use an occurrence.

An occurrence memo that identifies how many occurrences the employee has used will be issued to the employee after each absence.

4. Staff Meetings: Employees are required to attend all the scheduled Staff Meetings for their program, each month or quarter (based on the program), which are considered scheduled shifts for all employees. If an employee is unable to attend a scheduled Staff Meeting, they will need to use an occurrence. The employee may attend a monthly back up training. If an employee attends a monthly back up training, in place of a scheduled Staff Meeting, they will not need to use an occurrence.

Those employed with Meridian Services, Incorporated for over five (5) years may choose to forgo attending the program's Staff Meeting each month or quarter (based on the program). Staff will need to schedule a 1:1 meeting with their supervisor within the same month as the missed Staff Meeting. If the employee does not show for the individual meeting coordinated between the employee and their supervisor they must use an occurrence.

5. Employee Replacements: The employee is responsible for all other schedule switches or changes. If an employee arranges a schedule switch or change, they must receive approval from the supervisor and it be cost neutral. This must occur prior to the shift. The employee who is on Shiftboard is responsible for working that shift. If it has not been changed on Shiftboard, the employee must contact the scheduling team for clarification.
6. Attendance Rule: An employee's unauthorized absences which have a detrimental effect on the ability to carry out the mission of any one or more locations, functions, operations or units within the organization will be considered to be unsatisfactory performance by the employee. Not only will the employee need to use an occurrence, but the employee will receive appropriate disciplinary action, up to and including termination.

Failure to Attend: Any employee who provide support of people served and who fails in an unauthorized manner to attend one entire scheduled work shift may be dismissed for neglecting those people served requiring the employee's services, as stated under the mistreatment and neglect statutes for vulnerable adults and minors.

These positions are identified by the Chief Administrative Officer.
9. Conditions for a Return to Work: When employees are absent from work due to illness or injury, a request for a statement from a medical doctor or other health professional permitting the return to work, and stipulating any work restrictions on an employee's ability to perform assigned tasks, may be requested by the employee's supervisor. Failure to provide such a statement may delay a return to scheduled work.
10. Record Keeping: The organization has established record keeping rules. All non-exempt employees are expected to follow these rules:
 - a. Corrections: Any error or accidental omission on payroll records which requires correction may be made only by the employee's supervisor and payroll personnel.

 - c. Starting / Ending Times: Unless approved ahead of time, employees should not report in to perform job-related duties any earlier than their scheduled starting time; or continue to perform job-related duties later than their scheduled ending time unless leaving would put the people we serve or the organization's reputation at risk or reduce the required staffing minimum to an unauthorized ratio.

- e. Standards: The written performance evaluation is done using a standard evaluation form and set practices, and it is based on the employee's written job description and the performance standards set by the organization for their position. Supervisors may undergo an additional written evaluation. The employee is provided a copy of each written evaluation. The employee and their supervisor are required to sign the written evaluation. Such signature does not connote the employee's agreement, but serves only to indicate that the evaluation took place. A performance evaluation and an employee's written rebuttal are considered confidential. Copies may be reviewed only by authorized personnel; authorized access is on a need-to-know basis only.
- f. Wage and Salary Increases: Wage increases may occur as a part of an annual performance evaluation. Wage increases may also occur, based on the Minnesota Cost of Living Increase (COLA). COLA wage increases are not tied to the employees written performance evaluations. A change in any employee's wage resulting from a wage increase is made retroactive to the beginning of the pay period in which it occurs.
- g. Rebuttal: Employees may complete a rebuttal as part of their evaluation or may file a written rebuttal to their performance evaluation or any other written statement of performance shared with the employee. This written rebuttal must be filed with the Chief Administrative Officer of Orion Associates ; it is placed in the employee's Personnel Record. Employment is, however, employment at will; employment at will means that any employee may terminate the employment relationship at any time, and the employer may do the same. Therefore, EEO/AA rights are established for those employees who meet the standards set by the organization in the performance of their job duties and who meet this employer's expectations and standards of employment.
 - k. Evaluation Due Dates: Performance evaluations are due no later than the first Friday of the month following the month in which the evaluation was due.

C. Paid Time Off

1. Eligibility: Except where other agreements apply, all regular Full-Time employees customarily working thirty-five (35) or more hours weekly are eligible to receive, accrue, and use Paid Time Off. All regular exempt employees customarily working less than thirty-five (35 hours) weekly are eligible for prorated Paid Time Off, based on their regular schedule. Paid Time Off is a benefit available to employees under the condition that they have fully met all conditions of continuing employment, including, but not limited to, proper notice, etc.
2. Exclusions: Employees not eligible for Paid Time Off:
 - a. Temporary Employees
 - b. Substitute Employees
 - c. Employees on Unpaid Leave
3. Accrual Rates: Paid Time Off accrual for eligible employees is computed by the Finance Department based on the accrual rates listed below. The chart outlines the Paid Time Off accrual for progressively tenured employees. The accrual rate is determined by total length of continuing employment without regard to eligibility status at any time.

Months Completed	Weeks Accumulated Per Year
1 - 24	14 days (112 hours)
25 - 60	18 days (144 hours)
61 - XX	24 days (192 hours)

- a. Exception: The organization's Officers may make an exception to this policy, offering new employees the opportunity to begin their employment accruing Paid Time Off at the 25 – 60 accrual level as a hiring incentive. An employee who does so will remain at this accrual level until their 61st month, at which point they will continue at the standard 61 – XX accrual level.

- b. Maximum Accrual: No more than one hundred sixty (160) hours of Paid Time Off may be accrued at any time. An employee who reaches one hundred sixty (160) hours will stop accruing hours until some time has been used. The accrual of Paid Time Off stops automatically, without notice.
- c. Bi-Weekly Accrual: Paid Time Off accrues each bi-weekly pay period during an employee's length of service; and is updated and reflected on an employee's pay stub.
- d. Initial Accrual: When an employee becomes eligible to accrue Paid Time Off, that time begins to accrue with the immediate payroll.
- e. Ongoing Accrual: Paid Time Off accrues during regular work hours, Paid Time Off hours, and during paid Holiday hours.
- f. Access: Employees have access to their accrued Paid Time Off at any time, with supervisory approval, during the course of their employment, including during their first six (6) months of employment.
- g. Use: Paid Time Off is recorded and used in hourly increments. An employee taking Paid Time Off may use only their accrued hours. The organization does not pay employees more than the accrued hours. Time taken off in excess of accrued Paid Time Off will be considered time off without pay.
 - 1. Exempt Employee Paid Time Off: Exempt employees must determine their use Paid Time Off on daily, rather than weekly basis. The number of hours worked during a week are not taken into consideration in the use of Paid Time Off on an individual day. Regardless of the number of hours worked during a week, a day off requires the use of eight (8) hours of Paid Time Off, half a day off requires the use of four (4) hours of Paid Time Off pay, and so on. Supervisors may determine unusual circumstances that may allow exceptions to this policy, in which exempt employees may take time off of work without the use of Paid Time Off.
 - 2. "Cash Outs" of Paid Time Off: The organization does not "cash out" or pay employees Paid Time Off without their taking a commensurate period of time off of work.
 - a. Exception: "Cash outs" or paying employees up to 50% of their Paid Time Off balance may be considered in an extreme emergency. An extreme emergency will be considered a medical or other emergency, not to include the payment of bills, the purchase or repair of a car, or similar unplanned expenses. Such action must be approved by the supervisory personnel in ones Chain of Command and by the organization's Officers.

- h. Time Off Without Pay: An employee may request and be granted time off or a leave of absence without pay, at the discretion of their supervisor.
 - 1. Non-Exempt Employees: When a non-exempt employee has not yet accrued or has used all Paid Time Off, but is granted time off or a leave of absence, the employee receives no compensation for that time. There are no advances in Paid Time Off for non-exempt employees.
 - 2. Exempt Employees: When an exempt employee has not yet accrued or currently does not have eight (8) hours of Paid Time Off banked, but is granted time off or a leave of absence for a full day, the employee's salary will be reduced on a pro-rated basis for an absence of a full day for every day absent. The employee will receive no advance in Paid Time Off nor a payment for less than eight (8) hours.
- i. Separation: Unused accrued Paid Time Off is paid to separating employees on their last payroll check; employees, however, who resign without giving the required resignation notice or who are terminated forfeit their right to any payment for accrued Paid Time Off. Exceptions to this policy will be made solely at the Officers discretion.
 - 1. Paid Time Off During the Resignation Period: All employees are expected to work their full fourteen (14) or thirty (30) day resignation period. Paid Time Off is not to be used to cover portions of the resignation period. Program Administrators have the discretion to allow the use of a limited amount of Paid Time Off days during the resignation period, if in the Program Administrator's judgment, the employee's absence poses no difficulty to the program. The final days of an employee's resignation period are not to be taken as Paid Time Off.
- 4. Approval: Employees may submit written requests for use of three (3) or more days of Paid Time Off at least two (2) weeks before the dates they are requesting. Requests for use of two (2) or fewer days Paid Time Off are made at least seventy-two (72) hours in advance. All such requests must be approved by the employee's supervisor. They reserve at all times management's right to approve or deny Paid Time Off use based on the needs of their program operations, the timeliness of the request, and seniority.
- 5. Payment of Paid Time Off: Paid Time Off is computed on the employee's current regular wage or salary earnings. Payment is made on the established payroll days; Paid Time Off is not given in advance to any employee.

6. Holidays During a Period of Paid Time Off: When a holiday falls on any day of the week that an employee is using Paid Time Off, that employee receives the holiday with pay and it is not computed as a Paid Time Off day.
7. Status Changes:
 - a. Accrual Rate: Employees whose status change affects their Paid Time Off accrual rate may start earning the new rate immediately. The accrual rate is based on length of continued regular employment with the organization and on the work status.
 - b. Change of Status: Unused accrued Paid Time Off will be paid to employees, with a change of status from Full-Time to Part-Time.
8. Transfer of Paid Time Off: Paid Time Off may be voluntarily transferred from one employee to another, intended to be used only in the event of an extended illness, personal or medical emergency, under the follow guidelines:
 - a. Approval: All transfers of Paid Time Off from one employee to another may be done only with the approval of both employees' supervisors.
 - b. Donor Maximum: An employee may voluntarily give a maximum of twenty (20) hours of Paid Time Off to another individual employee for a particular event or circumstance. The employee donating Paid Time Office may donate no more than 50% and must retain 50% of their total accumulated Paid Time Off.
 - c. Recipient Maximum: An employee may receive a maximum of one hundred and sixty (160) hours of Paid Time Off from a number of individual employees for a particular event or circumstance.

In no instance are leaves granted automatically; they must be requested in writing by the employee in each and every instance.

- c. FMLA Leave for Birth or Placement of a Child: An employee is entitled to “parenting FMLA leave” for the birth of employee child or the placement of a child with an employee for adoption or foster care. If an employee wishes to take FMLA leave for one of these reasons, employee leave must end within twelve (12) months of the birth or placement.
